Top 6 Gardening Knee Pads on Amazon

Gardening knee pads are protective gear designed to provide cushioning and support for your knees while you're working in the garden. They typically consist of padded material, such as foam or gel, encased in a durable fabric, and are worn over the knees. These pads help prevent discomfort, bruising, or strain caused by prolonged kneeling on hard or uneven surfaces. They're especially helpful for tasks like planting, weeding, or tending to low-to-the-ground plants where you might spend a lot of time kneeling. In other words, you might find it helpful to use them often. Therefore, you want to purchase good ones. Let's explore some of the best options.

What to Look For in Gardening Knee Pads

Before we look at some of the best gardening knee pad sets on Amazon, let's go over what you might want to look for when making this purchase.

Materials for Gardening Knee Pads

When considering materials for gardening knee pads, several aspects are crucial for comfort, durability, and functionality:

- Padding: The padding material should offer a balance between softness for comfort and firmness for adequate support. Common padding materials include foam, gel, or combinations of both. Gel padding tends to distribute pressure more evenly, while foam might offer a lighter feel.
- Outer Shell: The outer material should be durable and resistant to abrasion, tears, and water. Nylon, polyester, or synthetic blends are popular choices due to their durability and ease of cleaning. Some knee pads have reinforced stitching or extra layers in high-wear areas for added durability.
- Breathability: Look for knee pads with breathable materials to prevent excessive sweating and discomfort, especially during warm weather. Mesh or perforated panels in the fabric promote airflow, keeping your knees cooler and drier.

- Water Resistance: While gardening, there's a chance of encountering damp soil or wet conditions. Water-resistant materials or coatings help protect the knee pads from moisture, keeping them dry and prolonging their lifespan.
- Ease of Cleaning: Gardening can get messy. Choose knee pads that are easy to clean. Machine-washable materials or those that can be wiped clean with a damp cloth simplify maintenance.
- Flexibility: The material should allow for easy movement without restricting your range of motion. Flexible materials and strategically placed seams contribute to better mobility while kneeling or bending.
- Comfort Liner: Some knee pads have an inner lining that enhances comfort and moisture-wicking properties, keeping your skin dry and reducing irritation.

Additional Features to Look For

Some of the other things you might want to pay attention to include:

- Adjustability: Choose knee pads with adjustable straps or closures to ensure a secure and customized fit. This feature allows for flexibility in sizing and prevents the knee pads from slipping down during use.
- Protection: Check for knee pads with a reinforced design or extra layers in the knee area to provide enhanced protection against sharp objects, rocks, or rough terrain.
- Size and Coverage: Ensure the knee pads cover a sufficient area around your knees to provide adequate protection without being too bulky or hindering movement.

- Price. You don't need to spend a lot of money to get a good gardening knee pad set.

Top 6 Gardening Knee Pads on Amazon

With all of the above in mind, here are some of the top gardening knee pads on Amazon:

NoCry Professional Knee Pads for Work

The NoCry brand is a good choice. You can use these versatile knee pads for construction and other work in addition to using them in the garden. They utilize a "high-density soft EVA foam padding" that will adjust to the shape of your knees. A thick gel layer makes them easy for your joints. These are breathable with heavy-duty adjustable straps. They have everything you could want in gardening knee pads.

Priced around $30. These have over 35,000 ratings on Amazon. More than 70% of those are 5-star reviews.

WORKPRO Knee Pads with Heavy Duty Foam Padding and Gel Core

These have a high-quality hard outer shell, a soft gel core, and durable EVA foam padding. This provides a perfect combination of softness for your body but durability and protection in the garden. They have double straps and adjustable top-fit clips. They're priced under $20.

JYBTAA Knee Pads

These are affordable knee pads that come in four different sizes and half a dozen different colors. They're designed for gardening as well as housework such as scrubbing the floors. They aren't as durable as a construction-style knee pad like the NoCry option, but they're perfectly suited for light work around the house and yard. These are priced at under $20.

KneeMate Knee Pads

These are foam cushion knee pads with a soft lining. They are available in three different sizes. Each of those has adjustable straps to further customize the size to the right fit. These cost under $20 and are comparable to the JYBTAA option so review them both and see which one feels best for you.

Bee's Knees Cleaning Knee Pads

These are probably the cutest of all of the options. They have adorable bee-dotted fabric. They can be used indoors or in the garden. Made with memory foam, they're soft and comfy. They're designed in a "one size fits most" style with adjustable straps. As a bonus, they're made by a company that is female-owned and operated. Priced under $20.

NETANY Extra Thick Kneeling Pad for Gardening

Did you know that you don't need to get knee pads to keep your knees comfortable in the garden? Instead, you can simply get a kneeling pad. These are made specifically for gardening. You stay clean and dry and your joints are cushioned. And yet, you don't have to put knee pads around your knees. There are many different styles out there. The NETANY option "is larger and thicker in 17.6" L x 11" W x 1.5" H, bigger than a knee brace to achieve more comprehensive protection and can be used for all kinds of hard, uneven, and or surfaces." It's priced around $13.

Thrift Store Gardening: Finding Affordable Tools and Supplies

I am a huge fan of thrift stores. Mostly, I go for the clothes. I almost never buy clothing that isn't either secondhand or handmade. But thrift stores also have tons of other things. My partner is terrific about shopping thrift stores and estate sales for everything from vintage coffee makers to new used furniture. So, naturally, thrift store gardening ideas have come into my life. It's a great way to get anything you might need for the garden without spending a lot of money.

Thrift Store Gardening Tools Are Often Durable

I'm admittedly not someone who uses a large number of tools. However, my father was a woodworker. My mother owned rental properties that she always fixed up herself. So, I know about tools, even if I don't use them a whole lot myself. And what I know about most tools is that the ones made a really long time ago were made to last. Therefore, if you find older tools, they're actually likely to last you longer than buying the same brand new tool today. Of course, that's not always the case. And there are plenty of new gadgets and gizmos that have features you just aren't going to get from a decades-old device. But, overall, thrift store gardening allows you to find tools that might just last you a lifetime.

Top Ten Garden Tools to Get At Thrift Stores

You can find a range of different items at thrift stores, of course. Here are ten to look for as a gardener:

1. Hand Trowel: Secondhand trowels, being durable and frequently available, offer an affordable and reliable option for various planting and weeding needs.
2. Pruning Shears: This is another example of a tool that was crafted with sturdier materials in the past. Secondhand pruning shears provide a more resilient tool for precision trimming at a fraction of the cost of a new pair.
3. Shovel: Thrift stores offer a great selection of shovels.

4. Rake: And, of course, rakes are usually easy to find at thrift stores as well.
5. Garden Hoe: Why pay for a fancy garden hoe when a simple secondhand one does just as well?
6. Watering Can: Thrift stores frequently have a variety of watering cans, including unique vintage designs that add fun to the garden.
7. Garden Fork: If you can find a garden fork at a thrift store, get it!
8. Garden Gloves: Get a variety of different glove types at a low cost when you shop secondhand.
9. Wheelbarrow: Thrift stores often have secondhand wheelbarrows in good working condition, providing an affordable option for transporting heavy loads in your garden compared to buying a new one.
10. Garden Sprayer: These aren't typically as easy to find in thrift stores but grab one if you see one.

Other Garden Items to Get at Thrift Stores

Beyond tools, thrift stores hold a myriad of unique and vintage garden decor items. The beauty lies in the discovery; you might stumble upon an item with a story, infusing your garden with personality and charm. Plus, repurposing items for the garden not only adds aesthetic value but also reduces waste by giving these pieces a second life. Examples to look for:

Pottery / Containers

Thrift stores offer an eclectic range of containers, from ceramic pots to quirky containers that can be upcycled as planters. You can uncover items like teapots, baskets, or even old drawers that can be transformed into unique plant-holding vessels. It's a budget-friendly way to add flair and creativity to your gardening space while recycling and repurposing items that might otherwise go unused.

Garden Books and Resources

Thrift stores often carry a variety of gardening books, magazines, and resources at discounted prices. You might stumble upon vintage gardening manuals, plant encyclopedias, or DIY guides for garden projects. These resources can provide valuable insights, tips, and inspiration for both beginners and seasoned gardeners. Plus, flipping through the pages of a weathered book can add a nostalgic charm to your gardening journey.

Garden Furniture

Thrift stores often feature garden furniture pieces like chairs, tables, or benches. Look for sturdy, weather-resistant materials that can withstand outdoor conditions.

Outdoor Lighting

Thrift stores sometimes offer outdoor lighting options such as lanterns, string lights, or solar-powered fixtures. You might discover vintage lamps that can be repurposed or modern solar-powered lights that add a touch of enchantment to your garden pathways or seating areas.

Seasonal Decor and Planters

Seasonal planters or decorative elements can be easily switched out to keep your garden fresh and vibrant throughout the year. From Halloween scarecrows to Christmas-themed planters, these items can be excellent additions to celebrate different seasons or holidays in your garden.

Outdoor Games and Entertainment

Thrift stores sometimes carry outdoor games and entertainment items like croquet sets, badminton rackets, or old-fashioned board games designed for outdoor use. These items can provide a fun and nostalgic element to your garden.

Plant Starters and Garden Supplies

Apart from tools and decor, thrift stores sometimes offer plant starters like pots with young seedlings or cuttings. You might chance upon unused bags of soil, organic fertilizers, or barely used gardening gloves—all at a fraction of their original cost.

My Favorite Places for Thrift Store Gardening in the SF Bay Area

My partner recently introduced me to Urban Ore. It's a huge warehouse thrift store in Berkeley that I can't believe I hadn't already known about. They have just about everything you might want – both for the home and for more industrial purposes. And they have a huge outdoor section. You know when you walk out the back of Home Depot into the garden section? It's like that, but better. If you only go thrift store gardening in one place in the San Francisco Bay Area, then this is the place that I recommend.

The other place I'd highly recommend is SCRAP SF. This is actually an artist thrift store. Mostly I go here for yarn and canvas. However, there are so many different materials here. While you might not find garden tools, per se, you can still find a lot of items to upcycle for the garden. Planters, garden decor, etc. are all enhanced by the materials here.
